STANDARD OIL TRUST IS ILLEGAL

Supreme Court Orders Dissolution.

SUSTAINSSHERMANACT

Decision Anxiously Awaited by World of Business

SIX MONTHS FOR DISSOLUTION

Distinction Now Will be Between Good and Bad Trusts.

Washington, May 16.—The supreme court of the United States ordered the dissolution of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey. In connection with this decree it also handed down its interpretation of the Sherman anti-trust law, long awaited by an anxious business world.

To accomplish this gigantic dissolution the court sets a period of six months. This is an extension of five months over the time allotted in the dissolution decree of the lower court. The decree of the circuit court was modified by the supreme court in only one other particular. The supreme court orders that the Standard Oil company and its subsidiaries shall not be excluded from interstate commerce pending the putting of its house in order.

The decision of the court in regard to the general interpretation of the Sherman anti-trust law was awaited with greater anxiety by the business world than the finding of fact in the Standard Oil case. The court holds that it is necessary to distinguish between "Reasonable" and "Unreasonable" restraint of trade as covered by the Sherman anti-trust law.

The effect of the decision as viewed by distinguished lawyers, is to insert the word "unreasonable" into the general prohibition in the anti-trust law against combinations in restraint of trade. The supreme court has thus eliminated the uncertainty with which all business combinations regarded the Sherman anti-trust law, and in the future it will be up to the government to draw the line between good and bad trusts. The anti-trust law as construed by the court, does not apply to all combinations, contracts or acts in restraint of trade, but only to those which are shown to be unreasonable and in which the intent to form an unlawful conspiracy or monopoly can be proved or inferred.

The decision and its effect was regarded in Washington as distinctly reassuring to business.

The decision of the court was read by Chief Justice Edward Douglas White. It was unanimous, with the exception of Associate Justice Harlan's dissent. Justice Harlan's words were marked by biting sarcasm. He contended that the court had not gone far enough and he objected to the words of the chief justice in construing the scope and purpose of the anti-trust act. He declared that the court had rendered an opinion that reversed an unbroken line of decisions for fifteen years past. He criticized the corporation lawyers who, failing to get an amendment to laws through congress, came to the United States courts for relief. He added with manifest sarcasm that it was becoming fashionable to amend the constitution and the federal statutes by judicial constructions.

It was the interpretation of the Sherman law so as to apply only to unreasonable combinations to which Associate Justice Harlan objected so vigorously.

Attorney General Wickersham and other officers of the administration, do not, however, share the gloom that seemed to enshroud Associate Justice Harlan. The attorney general and Frank B. Kellogg, who was special counsel for the government in the preparation and trial of the case, declared themselves greatly pleased over the decision. The attorney general in a public statement, holds that sub-

Initially every proposition contended for by the government was affirmed by the supreme court. The attorney general acknowledges that his office will now be restricted in bringing actions under the Sherman law to combinations which are unreasonably or unduly restraining interstate trade or commerce.

The opinion was delivered at an hour in the afternoon when that tribunal has usually adjourned for the day. It was shortly after 4 o'clock when the chief justice suddenly announced in a matter-of-fact way that he had the opinion of the court in the United States against the Standard Oil company.

Most of the lawyers who had been thronging the courtroom on decision days for several weeks in anticipation of the opinions in the Standard Oil and tobacco trust cases had left, but the news quickly flashed through the capitol and within a short time the courtroom and the corridors leading to it were filled with people, including many senators and representatives who were struggling to gain admission.

The opinion covered thirty pages of printed matter, but the chief justice in delivering it followed his usual rule and stated the court's conclusions orally. Twice in the course of his opinion the chief justice strongly hinted that if the Sherman law was not construed in the light of reason, but instead was held to be a literal prohibition against all contracts and combination that had a tendency to restrain trade, the statute might fall under the objection of being repugnant to the constitution.

The court announced no decision in regard to the tobacco trust case, and in view of its determination to distinguish between good and bad trusts the Standard Oil decision, it is contended, cannot be taken as a definite indication of its judgment in the other case.

ELEVATOR AND STATION BURN
Fire Does $25,000 Damage at Lucerne, Ind., but is Checked.

Logansport, Ind., May 16.—Fire, which broke out in the O. Gandy & Co. elevator, at Lucerne, ten miles north of Logansport, might have resulted in the destruction of the town but for assistance rendered by two chemical wagons from Logansport, which were rushed to the scene in response to a call for aid.

The elevator and the Vandalia station had been destroyed when the Logansport fire wagons arrived, and the postoffice, the bank and twelve houses were on fire. The whole town had turned out to fight the flames and, assisted by Logansport firemen, the flames were finally checked. The bank and postoffice were saved and the damage to the houses is about $5,000. The elevator and station loss will aggregate $20,000.

INSURGENTS THREATEN SALTILLO AFTER ANNIHILATING FEDERALS

Laredo, Tex., May 16.—Reports from Saltillo indicate that the insurgents are growing stronger in that vicinity and that an attack on the city is imminent. A company of federal troops stationed there has been annihilated. The troops had been driven into a cotton mill, and the insurgents kept up a steady fire on them for six hours. Then the insurgents apparently retreated, and the federal troops, sixty strong, started in pursuit. Only a small portion of the insurgents had retreated, and when the federal troops left their cover all but four of them were shot down. Saltillo is in the state Coahuila, 550 miles south-east of Juarez. It is near the battle of Buena Vista, where General Taylor defeated the Mexicans and captured Santa Anna in 1847. The population of the town is about 25,000. A famous old cathedral is one of the landmarks of the place.

GOOD VAUDEVILLE BRINGS

A novel feature in way of moving picture productions will be presented at the Opera House the last three days of this week. The pictures show the famous frontier celebration at Cheyenne. Two clever vaudeville acts are being presented each evening and a well filled house greeted the performers Monday evening.

MUCH TALKING CHARACTERIZES FIRST MEETING

The first regular meeting of the new council was held Monday evening. Mayor Towner presided and Ald. Moore, Cornwell, Stevens, Thomas, Lewis, Huston, Worden were present. The meeting throughout was characterized by much debating on the part of the new councilmen. One feature which was particularly noticeable was the predominating number of democratic committeemen.

Mayor Towner in a short opening address assured the council that the work on the new Congress street bridge would not be started till a proper understanding was made between the city and the D. & C. Ry. He called the attention of the council to the East Cross street paving, mentioning the fact that it had never been completed and that a suitable top dressing should be put on and kept wet, also that the remainder of the street to Huron should have the dressing renewed. He recommended the paving of Cross street in the near future on account of the large amount of traffic that now seems centered on that street. He also recommended the erection of a good bath house either by the city or by private capital.

The petition of the Driving Club for a subscription of $200 to assist in the defraying of the expense of a series of matinees to be given during the summer at Recreation Park was referred to a special committee consisting of Ald. John Worden, Lewis and Cornwell.

The petition of A. W. Phillips to erect an electric sign in front of the Hawkins House, was, on motion of Ald. Worden referred to the city marshal.

A short address was given during the session by John Maguire of Detroit, a tree dentist, the subject of which was "The proper treatment of shade trees and other trees on the streets of the city." He set forth the needs of the trees in Ypsilanti very briefly and at suggestion on the part of the mayor he will as some future date take up the subject more fully when he will consider the remedies and the compensation of treating those of the shade trees which are diseased and in need of consistent care.

BIG PLANS BEING MADE FOR FUNCTION OF APPRECIATION

A complimentary dinner and reception will be tendered President Jones, of the Michigan State Normal College, at the Masonic Temple, on Tuesday evening, May 23, 1911, at 6:30, by the citizens of Ypsilanti.

Plates will be laid for 250, and tickets issued for that number only.

A splendid menu has been prepared and will be served by the ladies of the Eastern Star, and the occasion promises to be a representative one in every respect. Already nearly one hundred places have been spoken for, and those wishing to attend should not delay in making their reservations. In order that plans for the banquet may be completed to the best advantage, no tickets will be disposed of after Saturday.

The marvelous growth of the Michigan State Normal College during the past few years, and enviable distinction enjoyed by it among the great educational institutions of the country, are achievements in which President Jones has been the pre-eminent factor. He has worked quietly, but persistently and successfully to make this the greatest of its kind in the entire country, and it goes without saying that the entire city of Ypsilanti has been the beneficiary in a very large degree of its successes. Hundreds of thousands of dollars annually have flowed into every channel of our commercial life and now that the time has come for a general expression of the appreciation of financial, as well as the social and intellectual benefits enjoyed by our people as a direct result of his efforts, a spontaneous movement has been started among the citizens generally both women and men to express to Mr. Jones their highest appreciation and respect.

Several short addresses will be given by representative citizens and the occasion will undoubtedly be one of far reaching importance, and should be shared by every admirer of both the president and the institution.

Tickets can be secured at Spauldry's Drug Store, Beal's Drug Store, and the Normal College office.

Honest Confession.

The census enumerator was confronted at his door by a meek and apologetic little man. "Who's the head of the house?" asked the census man. "From a strictly legal standpoint," replied the little man, "I suppose I am, but when you get right right down to brass tacks I ain't."

PHOTOS SHOWING MEN MARCHING IN PARADE DEMANDING VOTES FOR WOMEN, AND GIRL ENTHUSIASTS

New York, May 16.—Owing to the approach of the closing of the New York state legislature the members of the suffragist movement have begun a spirited crusade of national proportions to impress on the legislators the importance of their demand that women should be allowed to vote. The leaders of the movement have rallied to their support women from a score of states in the Union, including women who have voted in the various states where they have been given the suffrage.

The mammoth parade down Fifth avenue in which about 4,000 men and women marched has aroused wide comment. The suffragists believe that this demonstration will impress the legislators favorably and gain votes for them in the senate and assembly judiciary committees, which have the custody of the bills striking the word "male" from the state constitution. Tuesday, May 9, a large delegation of the paraders went to Albany to speak before the committees, carrying with them the banners displayed in the procession. A notable feature of the procession was the men's division, in which 300 men, many of them prominent citizens, marched. Two young women generally described as being of unusual beauty and attractiveness form one of the assets of the suffrage movement. They are Miss Roberta Hill of New Zealand and Miss Inez Milholland of New York, society favorite, and are shown in the accompanying illustration carrying the banner they displayed in the suffragist parade. Miss Hill is holding the banner pole and Miss Milholland is at her right in the picture.

STRENGTHENERS OF CONFIDENCE IN OUR COURTS.

Probably two of the largest legal battles have been consummated within the past two days that have been up for consideration since the times of the Dred Scott decision. The Supreme Court of the United States has announced within the past two days two practically unanimous opinions, sustaining in the one case the contention of organized labor in the famous Buck's Stove and Range case and the contention of the government in the famous Standard Oil trust case.

The advance announcement as reported states that the Supreme Court of the United States holds that the Standard Oil company is a monopoly in restraint of trade within the terms of the Sherman Anti-Trust law and that this giant corporation must be dissolved within six months. This on its face certainly looks like a distinct victory for the people, and we hope the decision may not go to pieces upon closer analysis and practical application. There is one statement reported as contained in the decision to the effect that corporations whose contracts are "not reasonably restrictive of competition" are not affected. We are left to judge of the judicial interpretation intended to be carried by this phraseology. But it would seem that the court means that corporations whose operations are only reasonably restrictive of competition were not intended to be interfered with by the Sherman Anti-Trust law. We do not see how the courts could possibly define in advance just what constitutes a reasonable restriction of trade and what unreasonable. This will have to be left for the courts to decide when the facts in any particular case are presented to it.

The case of the Buck's Stove and Range company was one which interested organized labor primarily. The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, as we recall, entered an order requiring organized labor to discontinue a boycott on the products of the Buck's Stove and Range company. This restraining order was issued pending the final disposition of legal proceedings then in process of determination in the same court. Mr. Gompers, Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Morrison, president, vice-president and secretary, respectively, of the American Federation of Labor, disregarded the terms of the restraining order and did not remove the boycott, but on the other hand, as we recall, admitted that they recommended its continuance. They were arrested and placed in jail for contempt of court. They were subsequently released on bail and have been out since. The Supreme Court of the United States holds that their action was civil contempt but not criminal contempt. In other words it was contempt punishable by fine, but not contempt punishable by imprisonment in the first instance. The courts of course could impose as heavy a fine as they felt disposed and we see no way in which they could be legally prevented from enforcing the payment of the fine or, in the event of its non-payment, the alternative of imprisonment for a limited time.

But the one patent gain for all in the rendition of these two decisions is its manifest tendency to disarm the criticism that the courts are in the control of the corporations and that the people have lost touch and sympathy with them. This is the greatest possible gain which could come from the handing down of these decisions, and if organized labor will but maintain its dignity and keep enthroned its best conscience and judgment and sense of justice in the pending dynamite cases now so prominently before the people and not permit its leaders to compromise the position of the rank and file, then these decisions will be of far-reaching importance. If they will exert their best efforts to see that all the evidence is presented to the courts in California and let the people know all the facts and not allow any important fact to be smothered, they can rely on the fairness of the people and the justice of the people's court, based upon existing law, to redress their grievances. But if cold-blooded rascals have gotten into their organization, as they do sometimes creep into the best of organizations, and have actually done the dastardly deeds charged against them, the standing of union labor will be measured by their attitude of sympathy or contempt for the criminal within their gates if he be proven to be such. And until he is proven to be such or to be not such, their attitude for their own sake should be a non-committal and judicial one.

The Harshness of Napoleon.

In the service and in the intercourse with his officers he was cold, almost repellant, severe and inflexibly just. One day Gen. Guvion Saint-Cyr, afterwards marshal, appeared at the emperor's morning audience at the Tuilleries. Napoleon said quietly to him: "You come from Naples, general?" "Yes, sire, I relinquished my command to Marshal Perignon, whom your majesty sent to relieve me." "And no doubt you have leave of absence from the minister of war?" "No, your majesty; but I had nothing else to do in Naples." "Unless you are on your way to Naples within two hours, you will be shot on the plain of Grenelle at 12 o'clock precisely," said the emperor, returning his watch to his pocket. "Kielland, 'Napoleon's Men and Methods'."

GRACEFUL AND ATTRACTIVE WOMEN.

If you are thin and want to be plump; if you have wrinkles in your face that you are not proud of, if your skin is sallow or subject to pimples or blackheads take MI-O-NA stomach tablets for two weeks and notice the change.

Nine tenths of the thin people are thin because the stomach is not active; it is not mixing thoroughly with the natural digestive juices, the food put into it, and consequently is not extracting from the food to distribute to every part of the body. If the stomach does not do its work properly the nourishment in the food you eat is passed along without giving to the body any flesh building elements.

MI-O-NA stomach tablets quickly build up the stomach so that it extracts from the food all the elements necessary to form good solid flesh.

If you are thin try a two weeks' treatment of MI-O-NA stomach tablets; two with each meal will work wonders.

MI-O-NA stomach tablets are guaranteed to cure indigestion, acute or chronic, or money back. Sold by Duane Spalsbury and druggists everywhere, at 50 cents a box.

RICE GROWING.

Northern readers of these notes will be interested in how rice is raised in the southern states. A loam soil with a good mixture of clay is considered best suited to this cereal, while the other conditions which make good rice land are possibility of irrigation, complete drainage and a solidity at harvest time to permit the operation of heavy machinery. Rice land is prepared for the seed as in the case of other cereals, and the best results are had with the drill, from one and a half to two bushels of seed being used per acre. When the rice plants are five or six inches high the field is flooded with water to a depth of from one to six inches. The water is kept on the field until the rice gets in the dough, which is from ten to twenty days before it is ripe. The field is then drained by open ditches and allowed to dry, after which the rice is cut, shocked and thrashed, as in the case of wheat or oats. In the last named step the speed of the cylinders is reduced to prevent cracking or breaking the grain. The rice is known as "paddy" as it comes from the machine and is then taken to the mill, where it is hulled and polished.

IMPROVE POULTRY STOCK.

It costs no more to keep fifty Plymouth Rocks, fifty Lezhorns or 50 White Wyandottes than it does to keep fifty birds of a dozen breeds and mixtures. It is almost as cheap to get started in pure bred poultry as it is to use the eggs from mongrel stock, and the returns later will be much greater. Do not set eggs which are picked up, hit or miss, about the barn. Select a few of the best hens and keep them separate for breed stock.

STRAWBERRIES.

By C. P. HALLIGAN,

ASSISTANT HORTICULTURIST
OF MICHIGAN AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

THE home garden is never complete without a good strawberry bed. Of all the fruits that are produced, there are none more luscious or satisfactory than home-grown strawberries. It surely deserves the name of king of the small fruits, being grown in every state in the Union, and on almost all kinds of soils. There is no fruit more cosmopolitan as to its conditions of soil and climate that gives as quick or as large returns per acre as the strawberry.

Young, vigorous plants should be selected in starting the new bed—plants that have never borne a crop and that are strong, vigorous and free from disease.

Although the strawberry will not thrive on a poorly drained site, it delights in a soil that is cool and retentive of moisture. If the soil is inclined to be light, a heavy application of well-rotted manure will greatly improve it.

Many people think that the strawberry should be planted in July or August and satisfactory crops obtained the coming year, but at this season of the year the days are hot and the soil too dry to obtain a satisfactory stand of plants, and but little growth will be produced before the following spring. It is advisable then to plant early in the spring, when the conditions of growing are more favorable, that a good stand of plants may be obtained for fruiting the coming spring.

The strawberry plant is very partial as to depth in transplanting. If planted too deep or too shallow the plant will die. Set the plant firmly in the soil, with the roots well spread and the crown of the plant even with the top of the soil.

There are various systems used in growing strawberries. The matted row system, where the plants are set about 18 inches apart in the row and the rows from three to four feet apart, the plants being allowed to form a solid mat a foot or two wide, is the most common system.

The hedge row system gives larger and better berries, although requiring a little more care. Here the plants are set about 18 inches apart in the row and each plant allowed to produce two runners, one running up and one down the row, thus forming a single hedge of plants. There are many modifications of this system. Some double the hedge, making a double hedge by allowing four runners per plant or planting two rows. Whatever form of this system is used, the rows are placed only a sufficient distance apart to allow of cultivation.

The hill system, where each plant is placed far enough apart to allow of cultivation both ways without producing runners, is sometimes used, but does not produce enough fruit to make it a paying proposition.

There is no crop that needs more attention as to cultivation than the strawberry. Deep cultivation and the want of cultivation ruins many patches annually. The plants require a beautiful supply of moisture, and are very shallow-rooted. Deep cultivation tears the roots, while a few "hot" dry days will kill the plants or seriously check them unless kept cultivated. Cultivate very regularly, but very shallow.

In the fall, after the ground is frozen, a mulch of straw, marsh hay, pine needles or other suitable material should be applied. This prevents the alternate freezing and thawing of the plants, checks the growth of the plants in the spring and keeps the berries clean during the ripening season.

Strawberry beds should be renewed each year or every two years, as the young plants are the most productive. Sometimes after the crop has been harvested from a patch the first season, it may be plowed up, leaving only narrow strips of young plants to renew the bed. The strawberry patch, however managed, will seldom prove profitable after the second crop.

THROW OUT THE LINE

Give the Kidneys Help and Many Ypsilanti People Will Be Happier. "Throw Out the Life Line"—The kidneys need help.

They're overworked—can't get the poison filtered out of the blood. They're getting worse every minute. Will you help them?

Doan's Kidney Pills have brought thousands of kidney sufferers back from the verge of despair. Mrs. Catherine McCullough, 10 E. Congress St., Ypsilanti, Mich., says: "I was often troubled by pains in my shoulders and could hardly walk. My kidneys were badly disordered and the kidney secretions were unnatural. Last winter I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and was led to procure a supply at Weinmann-Matthews Co.'s Drug Store. I began their use and in a short time felt so much better that I continued taking them until the pain and lameness in my back disappeared and my kidneys were restored to their normal condition. I am now eighty-one years of age and I attribute my good health to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills."

You Get the Odd Change

The new, Regal, "square-deal" method of pricing shoes at COST PLUS FIVE PER CENT. gives the buyer the benefit of many "odd change" prices.

For example, if the manufacturing cost of any pair of Regal Shoes, with 5% profit and selling expense added, comes to $3.85, you get that shoe at $3.85—not at the old, traditional, $4.00 price.

The Regal Company has abandoned the old-fashioned idea that good shoes always must be sold at "even money" prices.

Regals give the purchaser exactly what he wants at the smallest profit and lowest price at which shoes of that style and quality can be sold.

Prices range from $335 to $585 and are stamped on the shoes at the factory.

GRINNELL BROS. { OWN MAKE } PIANO

And this meaning is expressed in the word SATISFACTION—for only an instrument which pleases fully and permanently, and does so without exception, could be so firmly established among the World's Finest Makes. So great is the demand for the incomparable Grinnell Bros. (own make) Piano that our output of the past year is practically double that of any previous year.

This instrument is built right in every detail. Herein is the secret of that quality which is a characteristic of every instrument of our own manufacture. At no Piano Factory in the country will be found finer or more modern equipment—better workmen—or supervision more expert and exacting—while a higher grade of materials than enter into the construction of this Piano cannot be procured. That the Grinnell Bros. (own make) Piano is built right in every part is quickly apparent to all who investigate.

This Piano is sold only through our own stores and at Factory-to-Home price. It is furnished in both Upright and Grand form; and in a variety of beautiful designs. A small amount down, and convenient monthly or quarterly payments makes ownership of the magnificent Grinnell Bros. (own make) Piano easy for every family. DON'T NEED WALKING STICK

Americans Do Not Often Carry It, but Is a Matter Purely of Personal Choice.

Now that we are reminded of it, we realize that the great American people are seldom seen to possess a walking stick. "It's a small thing," writes an essayist in a morning paper, "the absence of the walking stick, but it belongs to the American motto, never in the haste of life, carry unnecessary cargo." The idea is, of course, fantastic with the fantasy of transporting common sense. The haste of life surely extends to travel in the case of a nation which would consider it self degraded if it spent longer than a week in a complete journey through Europe; and when Americans travel they are the last to deny themselves the luxury of an extra bit of luggage because it happens to be unnecessary. It is common knowledge that they go on loading the liner trunks until the company's officials say "Stop," if only to collect so many more steamship and hotel labels to add to their already bloated store of these trophies. No. The walking stick is a matter purely of personal choice. Most Americans chance to feel no need for a walking stick, whereas we do. That is how the thing stands. When it comes to a walking stick the world must be considered individually. The physical weakness is quite likely to have a taste for a gigantic club, the enormously powerful man who snaps his Sandoz developer before breakfast as though it were a piece of cotton may select for a walking stick the thinnest shred of malacca that money can buy—London Globe.

Simple Cleanliness.

It is a West end doctor, says the London Week End, who has made a new discovery regarding children who speak imperfectly. One boy, says the physician, had lost his voice for years. Mr. Stewart, the doctor in question, examined him for growth of the larynx, but finding none, insisted that the boy should use a toothbrush every day. In about six months the hoarseness disappeared and the voice came back. Simple cleanliness is a remedy for many such cases, while others, such as lisp, are often due to imitation of a parent or teacher who has this affliction.

PROFITABLE DAILY TITHING.

"Daily Heavenly Manna."

This little book is having the largest circulation of any of its kind and is conceded by Christians everywhere to be the most helpful.

If Christians allow the rush and crush of selfish ambition to deprive them of their daily portion of heavenly food, they must not be surprised if they grow spiritually leaner day by day, and if the peace of God gives place in their hearts to the discontent which is growing in the world, notwithstanding the multiplication of our comforts and privileges.

Daily Heavenly Manna contains a collection of Scripture texts with appropriate quotations for every day in the year. Surely the little tithe of time daily spent in partaking of its morsels of heavenly counsel cannot fail to profit all who partake. It is published to do good—not for profit.

Your Friends' Birth Dates.

An autograph and birthday record feature in this book is a great convenience. Opposite each day of the year are blank lines upon which you can secure the autographs of your friends and be reminded of their birthdays as they occur. This makes the book more valuable yearly. In ten years you would not sell it for ten dollars.

Besides it has a place for Birth Records, Marriage Records and Death Records. Also it has a table showing the day of the week of any date for one hundred and fifty years.

HE BROKE THE ENGAGEMENT

Cruel Misunderstanding Disrupts Matrimonial Plans of Count and Chicago Girl.

The sudden death in New York of Sir Clifton Robinson, "the traction king," was being discussed in a New York club.

"Sir Clifton Robinson," said a New York man, "built miles and miles of street railways in this country. He liked this country. He especially liked our young men."

"I once heard him say that our young men were not mercenary—that it was practically unknown for an American young man to marry for money. But a young foreigner, he declared, would marry his grandmother if there was a hundred a year in it. "A Chicago woman on a liner, he said, once remarked:

"Yes, Mabel was engaged to be married to a handsome young count she met in Budapest last summer; but there was a cruel misunderstanding."

"Indeed, how was that?" asked another woman.

"The count," was the reply, "understood her father was a multimillionaire."

When the Roses Waken.

When the roses waken
And the wood doves coo
And the sunny shadows
Trail the valley through
In my heart a longing
Wakes and calls for you.

In the violet bed
And the robins chatter
In the leaves overhead
Then my heart goes pleading
For a dream long dead.

Charles D. Garnett, a retired paper manufacturer of St. Louis, who faced a suit of $100,000 as an outcome of bankruptcy proceedings, shot and killed himself in Riverside park in New York.

Leaving his engine, which was pulling an eastbound Wabash passenger train, Charles Miller, an engineer, led a party of fifty passengers to the burning home of Miss Daisy Whitaker, west of Chillicothe, Mo., and extinguished the flames, probably saving the lives of Miss Whitaker and her aged mother.

Lobsters Washed Ashore in Storm.

During the recent storm, which was the worst that has swept the New Brunswick coast in a number of years, thousands of lobsters of all sizes have been washed ashore on the North Beach at Rexton. For a distance of several hundred yards a reef was formed on the shore of all sorts of fish, including an immense quantity of rock eels as well as lobsters, which fishermen say are more than all the traps would secure in a season.

Thousands of birds of the sea were on the beach eating the soft part of the lobsters and leaving only the claws, which were strewn about in all directions. Although there have been many severe storms here in the past, no one recalls an event of this kind. A great many have visited the beach to watch the gulls and other birds ravenously enjoying the feast for them. —Lewiston Journal.

Bishop's Busy Day.

Discarding his horse and buggy Bishop Abram Herr of New Danville, Lancaster county, found it necessary to procure the service of an automobile in order to marry five pairs who lived in different sections of the county, according to a correspondent of the Philadelphia Record. Bishop Herr is a minister of the Mennonite faith, and the weddings were so scheduled that he scarcely had the time to eat a morsel of food at the big feasts that always follow a country wedding.

He married the first pair at his home and then jumped into the auto and was driven to Salunga, where he performed another wedding ceremony. From there the marrying parson was whisked to East Lampeter township, where two pairs were married. He solemnized the last wedding in the evening at Mountville.
